

Production Studios and Print On Demand Services

Production Studios - For those choosing to self-publish your book, exhibition catalog or sample signatures, we have provided a selection of businesses that can help you with your publication. Some have a broad range of choices in papers, printing and bindings, while others offer fewer options.

Whenever possible work with a local firm (or travel to be on press at publication) to learn and benefit by participating in the complete production process.

Print-on-Demand Services - Digital printing services are increasingly common today, with most companies providing design templates for ease in uploading your final layouts for remote printing. These services are great for printing a copy of your mock-ups (also called book dummy or maquette) as your edit and design process proceeds. Some have an in-house store for you to post your final book for sale, which is then printed on order and shipped directly to the buyer, avoiding the need for you to process sales on your website. Be sure to explore price breaks for bulk ordering with discounts at set increments, such as 50 copies, 100 copies and larger. Examples of print-on-demand services include Blurb.com, MagCloud.com and Smartpress.com.
